Civic Association

THE ECCHO

Spring 2018

President's Message

Our civic association thrives only by the effort of volunteers — how can you help?

WELCOME SPRING! WHILE THE weather has been crazy lately, I'm hopeful that we are well on our way to a warm and beautiful spring! My favorite season, spring is a time of new growth and renewal. And in this spirit, I'd like to encourage all of you to please read this message and our newsletter. So many community members invest their time and energy into our neighborhood and association and we thank all of them for making CCH a safe, beautiful, and fun place for all the families who live here! I encourage those of you who have not participated or who have thought about volunteering to consider the great reasons for joining the CCHCA board or volunteering to support CCHCA activities.

We host events so that you all can get together to meet your neighbors, eat, play, and enjoy yourselves.

We arrange plantings and clean-ups for our Commons and the stream that flows through the area. We ordered new entrance signs and maintain and beautify them with flowers.

We are your connection to Fairfax City and notify you when the police publish warnings. We invite speakers to tell us what is happening in the city as far as development, taxes, and other items of interest to all of you.

We also have a welcoming committee for new neighbors, and a neighbor-to-neighbor program for any of our neighbors who require assistance. We have a dedicated group of block captains who deliver your newsletters, directories, and event flyers. Our website has so much information about the neighborhood.

CCHCA needs help to continue these activities. I understand that we are all busy and am asking for only a small commitment. To be on the CCHCA board requires attendance at four quarterly meetings a year and the annual meeting. That is only about 10 to 12 hours a year. Our block captains have routes of between 10 to 17 houses and deliver newsletters to their neighbors four times a year with maybe an occasional flyer. And for those people who are able to host an event, we pay for everything! You just need to be able to donate less than 10 hours for organization and hosting of the event. Think up your own ideas; we will be glad to hear them!

The current CCHCA would appreciate your support by coming to our ANNUAL MEETING on Thursday, May 10, at 6pm at Historic Blenheim. We will have complimentary food and drink as well as raffle prizes! And you will hear from Mayor David Meyer as he discusses development plans for Fairfax City. Please plan to come to the meeting! Please also think about helping your neighborhood by joining the board, hosting an event, or becoming a block captain!

Thank you sincerely.

TANIA AND NICK DEDHAM MOVED TO COUNTRY Club Hills in 2004 from Arlington. They loved the location, the solid brick ranch homes, and the good sized yards. Of course, having Tania's mom and dad living here helped them know the neighborhood; they live on Country Hill Drive.

Tania is a Reading Specialist at Lanier Middle School and Nick is the IT Director at the Fairfax Police Station so it is a good, central location for both of them. Their two children were both born here. Claire is twelve and Henry is nine; they both attend Daniels Run, though Claire will move on to Lanier next year.

The Dedhams became Block Captains in 2015 when their neighbor, Dia Pullen, suggested they might enjoy it! Claire and Henry actually do all the delivering now.

Nick, Tania, and the children love living in CCH and Fairfax because there are so many family events. Rock the Block is a favorite as well as the Chocolate Festival. The tradition of starting out at the Commons for Halloween is one they really enjoy, and living in Boxford Court where all the neighbors have become an extended family having cookouts and get-togethers.

Thank you, Tania, Nick, Claire, and Henry for volunteering. We really appreciate your willingness to help your community.

What's happening in our fair city

VOTING FOR OUR CITY COUNCIL and School Board will be on May 1. PLEASE VOTE. The City has lost two of our long-serving members on the Council: Jeff Greenfield and Ellie Schmidt. Mayor David Meyer is running unopposed.

If you would like to know more about the four contenders for those two spots, there will be a debate sponsored by the Woman's League of Voters on April 11 at the Sherwood Center at 7pm. If you would like to submit questions for that forum, send to me at hilcarn31@aol.com.

The contenders are Tom Ross, Joseph Harmon, Sang H. Yi, and So P. Lim in addition to the incumbents: Jennifer Passey (of CCH), Michael DeMarco, Jon Stehle, and Janice Miller.

➔ Work will begin shortly on development of the SCOUT ON THE CIRCLE project.

➔ The developer of the PAUL VI PROPERTY will again submit to the Council a revised plan. They have cut the density of the project by half. Historic Fairfax City Inc. is working with them to retain the historic front of the building.

Addressing Our March Power Outage

HELLO CCH NEIGHBORS. I thought I would just talk a bit about what happened when we had the power outage March 2 through 4. I am on the side that didn't get power back until 8:30pm on Sunday, March 4. Out in the garbage went everything from our two refrigerators, since we don't have a generator and I didn't trust the bags of ice we put in there for that long.

I received an e-mail on Sunday from the City of Fairfax (as President of the Board) to let us know they were working with Dominion Power to get the situation rectified as soon as possible. My response back to them was that most of CCH had already gotten their power back Saturday night and just the few streets on the Fairfax High side were still out, and I questioned why that was happening.

The response was that we have two circuits in CCH, #679 and #872. Circuit 872 covers most of CCH and also contains Sherwood Center and the Police Department. The pole that was damaged on Old Lee Highway took that power out and was replaced on Saturday. Then their power came back on.

Circuit 679 covers the few streets on north side of CCH and is connected with the Great Oaks neighborhood and Fairfax High School and spreads out as far as Eaton Place (the road from Rt. 50 to Rt. 123 behind the old Hooters). That is where the problem was for #679. They had a power pole affected on that road also which wasn't taken care of until Sunday afternoon. I'm not sure why there are two different circuits in our neighborhood or what we can do about it, if anything. But I wanted to pass on the explanation I was given.

Leslie Daniels
PRESIDENT, CCH BOARD

The Essence of a Neighborhood is Neighborliness!

THE WINDSTORM IN EARLY March that knocked out power for several days reminds us of the adage, “When disaster strikes, look for the helpers.” CCH residents lived up to this ideal.

While Dominion was working to restore power, many CCH residents were active on the Facebook page, posting updates for others. Granted, communication from Dominion was spotty at times, but the lines of communications among neighbors remained open throughout the days of uncertainty.

Many CCH residents also took it upon themselves to check with their nearest neighbors to see if they needed help. Downed trees and limbs, lack of heat and food storage, and transportation were just some of the issues everyone was dealing with — and in their usual fashion, CCH’ers pitched right in where they could.

All of this exemplifies the spirit of neighborliness — and the principle on which the Neighbor-to-Nighbor Committee was founded. Namely: We’re in this together! CCH residents live up to this ideal continuously; it’s one of the wonderful things about our neighborhood (and the city at large).

So, thanks to all those who stood together, checked in, pitched in where they were needed, and came together to “weather” the aftermath of the storm!

One more thing: Although I am the chair of the Neighbor-to-Nighbor Committee, the true power of the idea is in individuals like you. So, if you haven’t already, get to know your nearest neighbors; stay connected with them. Exchange keys and phone numbers, for each other and family members. Check in on each other occasionally — you don’t need to wait for a storm!

And feel free to contact me if you know of a neighbor who needs help, is ill (or has a family member who is ill), or has suffered a loss such as the death of a loved one. I will follow up as appropriate, but I can only do that if I know about it.

Thanks for being such good neighbors!

RECIPE CORNER

Ernie's Deviled Eggs

Longtime resident Ernie Klimonda is ubiquitous, serving on the Website, Welcoming, and Publication committees, among others. Also ubiquitous are his fabulous deviled eggs, which have graced the picnic table at many a CCH event. In this exclusive scoop, Ernie spills his secrets for making deviled eggs.

PUT EGGS INTO A POT FILLED with cold water, bring it to a boil, and let them boil or simmer for ten full minutes, not one minute less. In the meantime, prepare another pot with cold water filled with ice cubes. Place hard-boiled eggs into the ice water for at least 30 minutes or until all the ice cubes have melted. This will make the eggs easy to peel.

Cut eggs lengthwise and separate the egg whites from the yolks; place the yolks in a dish, add some mayonnaise, Tartar sauce, mustard, a little lemon juice, some horseradish, and eventually some hot sauce.

Mix thoroughly either with a fork or hand-held mixer and keep tasting and tasting, adding one or another ingredient as needed. When the end result meets with your approval, fill the egg white halves with the yolk paste. For decoration, sprinkle with ground paprika powder and place a caper seed in the middle. Enjoy. This should make your guests ask for more.

NOTES FROM THE

Police Chief's Advisory Council

AS THE CCH NEIGHBORHOOD representative on the Police Chief's Advisory Council for City of Fairfax Police, I want to pass along information shared at the most recent council meeting.

Briefly as background, in late February there was a social media post that was deemed a threat made against Fairfax High School. The Fairfax City Police, with assistance from other local police departments, investigated, and ultimately an arrest was made in the case.

Chief Pardiny, City of Fairfax Police Chief, made it abundantly clear how seriously the police department took the case and how thankful he was that the students at Fairfax High School passed along the information about the possible threat as soon as they did to the appropriate law enforcement and school personnel. The City of Fairfax Police worked around the clock on the case until the suspect was found.

The members of our neighborhood, and the City of Fairfax as a whole, can be assured that our local City of Fairfax Police Force took this threat incredibly seriously.

Chief Pardiny emphasized that if any student hears or sees anything that they feel should be brought to the attention of school or law enforcement personnel they should be encouraged to do so. The Chief praised the students of Fairfax High School for their quick reaction in this case and that is a helpful lesson to pass along.

The Flight of the Timberdoodle

PEEEEENT. THE WEIRD SOUND came from just outside our window as I was closing the blinds for the night. “Listen to this,” I told my husband.

Peeeeeent! “Is it an alarm?” he asked. It did sound like that — or perhaps someone playing a kazoo with his nose — but I shook my head. I thought it was a bird, based on a vague childhood memory of overhearing my brother’s “Birding by Ear” tapes (he’s a serious birder, and I am merely a bird-watcher, albeit an enthusiastic one).

Sure enough, we had heard the American Woodcock. I hurried outside in time to see a shy, stubby bird fly through the neighbor’s backyard in silhouette.

Woodcocks, also known by the charming nickname “timberdoodle” and the less-than-charming “bogsucker,” are one of the earliest harbingers of spring, arriving at their breeding grounds as early as February.

Their funny looks, with eyeballs perched at the top of their heads, are actually quite functional: the woodcock has the largest known visual field of any bird, with a 360° view in the horizontal plane. Even cooler: the tip of its bill is prehensile, allowing it to open and grab earthworms even while the rest of its long bill is buried in the dirt and stuck shut.

Living in the suburbs of a busy metropolitan area, it’s often surprising how many species are able to thrive among the subdivisions and bustling highways. In 2015, the Audubon Society of Northern Virginia certified our own Commons area as a Wildlife Sanctuary. Its combination of field, forest, and water makes it appealing to lots of critters. To be certified, neighborhood volunteers had to spot ten species from a list provided by Audubon; these species indicate that the Commons is a welcoming habitat for the pickier animals, not just your happy-go-lucky squirrels. At right, read more about the critters we spotted.

Ariel Rudolph Harwick

CHAIR, SIGNAGE COMMITTEE

Of the sixteen species of BATS in Virginia, Fairfax County commonly sees seven: Big Brown Bat, Little Brown Bat, Eastern Red Bat, Eastern Pipistrelle, Hoary Bat, Northern Myotis, and Silver-haired Bat. They live in large colonies in rock crevices, caves, hollow trees, and even underneath loose tree bark.

The EASTERN TOWHEE can frequently be found browsing the edge of the daylily bed in the Commons, where it uses both its feet in a hopping motion to forage for insects and seeds underneath leaf litter. It’s striking, with dark feathers on top and rufous red on the sides. Its bright “drink your teeeeea!” song is also distinctive.

The GRAY CATBIRD is very sleek, with a black cap and cinnamon-colored undertail covert feathers. As its name implies, one of its calls sounds like a cat, and it also incorporates mimics into its songs, including imitations of other birds, frogs, and even machines. The catbird prefers the cover of dense undergrowth.

The GRAY TREEFROG rarely leaves the high canopy, though you can sometimes find them around porch lights, eating insects attracted to the light. They often hibernate in leaf litter and can survive being frozen to 18° F; their livers produce concentrated glucose or glycerol as a cryoprotectant, and their organs dehydrate to prevent damage from freezing.

Unlike their dragonfly cousins, DAMSELFLIES fold their wings along their bodies when at rest, rather than holding them straight out. Like dragonflies, they eat other insects. The damselfly’s young — called a nymph — is aquatic and can be found in bodies of freshwater like the Accotink Creek.

Neighborhood Has a Ball at Fun Bowl

OUR FIRST CCH FUN BOWL WAS loads of fun! Everyone met at Fairfax Bowl at 2pm on Sunday, February 25. We had some seniors, we had some little ones, we even had a dog-in-training to cheer us on. The bowling alley reserved lanes for us that were all together and gave us a special price of $12 each, which included two games and rental shoes. After CCH put in some money from our "event" funds, the cost for each bowler was $5. What a great way to spend a couple of hours on a cold winter afternoon.

It was a unanimous decision to do it again, so watch this newsletter for the second CCH Fun Bowl.

AH, SPRING. THE BIRDS ARE singing, the flowers are blooming, and the dusty furniture of winter is appearing on the curb.

As someone who has furnished a house almost exclusively with curb treasures and cast-offs, I love capitalizing on other's spring cleaning frenzies. But as someone who hates waste, I am saddened by how much perfectly good stuff gets thrown in the garbage truck to languish in a landfill.

This spring, as you make way for new things or simply declutter your life, remember that there are plenty of folks who would jump at the chance to own your old clothes, home goods, furniture, and even building supplies. Start a "donations" box and have your family members contribute their unwanted things to it.

Here are some ideas to get you started. This list is by no means a comprehensive reference, but it offers some creative ways to give your things a new lease on life.

Sell it or give it away.

CRAIGSLIST is a solid standby. This barebones classifieds website allows you to make a buck on unwanted goods. If you're feeling generous — or to unload an item fast — you can list it in the "Free Stuff" section. To encourage unattended pickups of free stuff, mark your listing as a "curb alert." For best results, include a photo.

FACEBOOK MARKETPLACE is another great place to sell things locally, and there are entire groups devoted to free stuff.

Even better, newcomer classifieds app

FHOUNDIT allows you to select from a list of "exchange zones" to meet up with your buyer at safe locations, like police stations. In-app messaging keeps your contact info secure, and you can see other users' ratings to get a sense of their credibility and responsiveness.

Donate it.

Looking for a place to donate lumber, drywall, or even a toilet? The HABITAT FOR HUMANITY NOVA RE-STORES (located in Alexandria and Chantilly) accept new and gently-used home improvement supplies, such as fixtures, flooring, and construction materials, as well as appliances (less than ten years old), furniture, and assorted household items. You can drop off your items or arrange for their convenient pickup service for large donations.

THRIFT STORES are great for donating clothing and household items, and many benefit a charity or cause. Make sure your goods are clean and in decent shape, and call ahead if you're unsure if an item will be accepted. Due to limited space, many charities and thrift stores do not accept furniture or older electronics (think more than years old). Remember to collect a receipt in order to claim a tax deduction.
