June 2006

From the President

Hello neighbors,

2005 was a great year for CCHCA. We saw the park become a reality! We saw the social activities boom with new faces! Block captains worked like clock-work, and membership is at the highest it's ever been, 65% of all CCH residents. We're doing well thanks to everyone's hard work and dedication. I'm proud to be a part of it!

Elections were held at the General Meeting on May 17. I am pleased to announce that we have a new member of the Board, Jill McNiell. She will be taking over as Secretary. Everyone else on the Board will remain in their positions. Consistency is a good thing, but we could also use some fresh faces.

We need help in the following areas:

Social Activities Assistants: We have a lot of great social activities planned for the upcoming year, but it's too much for one person. We need people to take responsibility for one event. Of course, Katie Baxter-Gagen will be available for guidance. Think about it. If you can coordinate a dinner party, you can manage a CCHCA event. We're not expecting Martha Stewart, just neighbors who can pick a date, purchase supplies and set it up. These events foster community and people truly appreciate them.

Common Area Coordinators: Do you enjoy the outdoors and can't get enough of gardening? Consider becoming a coordinator for the Common Area. Schedule two dates a year for clean-up and mulching. Volunteers are readily available to help. We're hoping to bushwack a circular primitive trail through the back area this year too.

Calvary Committee: We need a point person to sound the horn for a neighbor's call for help. A committee of volunteers is standing by to help make a meal, mow a lawn, or move some furniture.

We hold Board meetings every other month, which by the way, ANYONE is welcome to attend. We're a casual group that is committed to seeing the neighborhood progress. Got ideas? Give me a call!

Lisa

Trees Need Mulch!

By Bill Anhut, Jr. (billanhut@yahoo.com)

Benefits of mulching.

Trees, grass and shrubs compete for the same water and nutrients that are available in the top foot of soil. Because grass roots colonize faster and take up more of the soil space, they capture significant amounts of the soil's nitrogen. Grasses also release antagonistic chemicals into the soil that slow the growth of tree roots. The phenomenon is referred to as allelopathy. Researchers have found that tree growth is marginalized when trees are grown in turf areas compared to trees with mulched root systems. Mulching also benefits tree roots by improving the entry of water into the soil and conserving moisture lost through evaporation at the soil surface. Mulching improved soil fertility and structure by providing food for trees and by attracting beneficial soil organisms, such as earthworms and "good" fungi. Mulching mitigates soil erosion and soil compaction and protects roots susceptible to damage from lawn mowers or string trimmers.

How to Mulch

Apply a two to four inch layer over the area around the trunk, extending out to the dripline or beyond. Because many of our trees are mature and enormous, mulching to the dripline may not be practical. Therefore, mulch to an area at least four to five feet in diameter around the trunk. However, it's very important to keep the mulch six inches away from the trunks of trees. Why? The base of the tree where the trunk flares out must be able to breathe oxygen. It suffocates in the continually moist environment produced by mulch (or soil from a change of grade that buries the flare) and leads to the death of the inner bark. When the inner bark dies, the tree is no longer able to send food to its roots and the roots eventually starve. The Anhut family has lost a couple of mature oak trees in the past 15 years, their demise aided in part by the base of the tree buried in soil or mulch! If only I knew then what I have since learned!

Type of Mulch

A well-aerated, composted organic mulching material is best for properly mulching a tree. Some of the preferred materials for mulching trees include bark, shredded wood or leaves, and pine needles. Fresh wood chips and sawdust (characterized by a light coloring) should not be used because their decomposition removes nitrogen from the soil, depriving a tree of nitrogen needed for growth. Most shredded wood mulch sold commercially has been composted or partially decomposed (dark color) and is an acceptable organic mulch material.

Mulching helps recreate the forest root-zone environment from which our trees evolved. Let's get busy and care for our valuable trees!

Free Mulch. Mulch can be picked up for free at the Fairfax County Transfer Station located at: 4618 West Ox Road, Fairfax, VA 22030, Tel: 703-324-5040 (www.fairfaxva.gov/PublicWorks/mulch.asp)

At the request of Civic Associations, the city will deliver 30 cubic yard loads of wood mulch to designated common areas. Association representatives may place an order at 703-385-7995 or email: khart@fairfaxva.gov

Calendar

Next CCHCA Board Meeting is scheduled for June 7, 2006 at 7 p.m. The meeting will take place at Paul and Danielle Sullivan's home at 3302 Spring Lake Court, 703-293-9774, p.sullivan29@verizon.net. All residents are cordially invited to attend!!

Let's journey back 52 years. In 1954, residents of Country Club Hills had certain rules they had to follow:

RESTRICTIONS (Section One)

- (1) That no noxious, dangerous or offensive trade or activity shall be permitted or maintained upon said lots, nor shall anything be done thereon which may be or become an annoyance or nuisance to the neighborhood; nor shall any hogs, cattle, livestock or fowls be kept, or animals for breeding purposes.

and Ms Jill King of 9914 Broad view Drive were so kind and gracious as to make eight old (1954/55) pictures available to us as well as a great number of documents relating to the purchase and construction of their home in 1954 at Lot 44, Section One, Country Club Hills, 506 (today 9914) Broad view Drive.

The photos can be seen on our website: www.cchca.org>Photo Gallery>History Album - as well as at the Historian's CCH photo album; the documents are now stored at the CCHCA archives.

Garden Club Beauty Spot of the Month.

The Commons - Park Dedication April 2

(Cityscene – April 2006)

Hard work, community cooperation and a little help from the City of Fairfax helped Country Club Hills Civic Association (CCHCA) carve a new public park out of a plot of land once described by neighbors as an “eyesore.”

The public was invited to celebrate the dedication at 2 pm at the park, located on Spring Lake Terrace between Brookwood and Andover Drives. Photos of this event can be seen on the Association's website www.cchca.org>Photo Gallery>The Commons.

Country Club Hills Commons is resplendent with a pavilion, picnic tables, and a wide grass area bordered by Accotink Creek. The once-unsightly plot of land was cleared by residents of CCH and community leaders who, with the city, removed debris and overgrown vegetation, planted flowers and trees – as well as installed a pavilion with seating for picnics or just relaxing in the shade.

The project, which was four years in the making, was funded in part by the annual Civic Association/Homeowner Association Grant Program as an initiative of the CCHCA.

Many Thanks to Louis Frank!

Each winter and after every snowfall Louis Frank of 3405 Andover Drive gets his snowplow out and cleans all the sidewalks on Andover Drive and beyond. The residents are very grateful.

Humor is the Best Medicine

The Jewish Mother.

A young Jewish man excitedly tells his mother he's fallen in love and that he is going to get married. He says, "Just for fun, Ma, I'm going to bring over 3 women and you try and guess which one I'm going to marry." The mother agrees.

The next day, he brings three beautiful women into the house and sits them down on the couch and they chat for a while. He then says, "Okay, Ma, guess which one I'm going to marry."

She immediately replies, "The one on the right."

"That's amazing, Ma. You're right. How did you know?"

The Jewish mother replies, "I don't like her."
