

Month of May Beauty Spot

The Beauty Spot for May has been awarded to Joan Daniels, of 3411 Newbury Road (corner of Spring Lake Terrace).

We first exclaimed over a gigantic evergreen, which nearly covers this charming house on Newbury Road. We followed a retaining wall across the front of the house and around the side where it begins a gradual slope up the hill on Spring Lake Terrace.

There are so many interesting and beautiful levels to this property that we cannot cover them all, but one area begs to be described: the entire area on the right side of the house is, to us, like an English country garden, with paths winding through it. The garden is filled with a myriad of flowers, bushes and plants: azaleas(all colors), pink mountain laurel (we think), red maples, and dogwoods to name but a few, and all are living in perfect harmony, making up an understory for some lovely old oaks and dogwoods.

Also, you must see a very healthy, perfectly-shaped holly tree growing within the retaining wall, and shading a ring of hostas, ferns, daffodils, ivy, and small purple flowers looking a bit like hyacinths, but not.

The only way to appreciate the creativity and beauty of this property is to visit 3411 Newbury Road and see for yourselves!

Congratulations, Joan, you have created a truly wonderful spot.
